Eyelid And Brow Lifts

Loose, droopy skin over the eyes and puffy bags underneath the eyes are common problems that make people look older. Eyelid surgery, or blepharoplasty, corrects these conditions by removing excess skin from the upper lids and fatty bags underneath the eyes. Dr. Fezza uses laser technology to perform eyelid surgery while employing a special technique that hides incisions inside the lid so often no external incisions or sutures are needed on the lower lids. Eyelid surgery is frequently performed in conjunction with a brow lift – a procedure in which the skin of the forehead and brow area is tightened and lifted. This reduces the appearance of frown lines and crow's feet, giving the face a younger and brighter appearance.

Laser Skin Rejuvenation

For softer, smoother, younger-looking skin, Dr. Fezza uses a state-of-the-art CO2 laser. This technology is safe, fast, and effective taking only about a half hour to resurface the entire face. Sun-damaged or aged skin is peeled layer by layer, eliminating surface imperfections such as scars, age spots, skin tags and wrinkles.

The result is smoother skin with a more even tone and texture. Lines around the mouth respond especially well to laser resurfacing.

Lower Facelift

A facelift, or rhytidectomy, is a surgical procedure that provides an overall lift to the lower third of the face by tightening loose skin in the jowls, neck area and jaw line. A youthful appearance is achieved by cleaning up the jaw line and eliminating the turkey neck. The procedure usually takes about two hours and most people look and feel great after two to three weeks, at which point they can resume work and exercise.

Quick Mini-Lift

Not everyone needs a traditional full face lift to keep their youthful glow. In these cases, a quick mini-lift may be performed. This one hour procedure, which requires only a small incision, tightens up the jaw line and gets rid of jowls, resulting in a youthful appearance with minimal downtime.

Additional Cosmetic Procedures:

Chin or Cheek Implants - Implants can fill in a recessed chin, providing a more defined jaw outline, while cheek implants provide fuller cheekbones.

BOTOX® Treatment - FDA-approved BOTOX® is safe and effective for treating worry lines, frown lines, laugh lines, crow's feet and other wrinkles.

Wrinkle Fillers - Collagen®, Restylane® and Juvederm™ are quick and effective methods to fill in wrinkles and create fuller, more attractive lips.
