

David W. Shoemaker, MD

Cataract and Implant Surgeon

Founder, CEO and Director of Cataract & Lens Replacement Surgery for Center For Sight

Dr. David W. Shoemaker, a nationally acclaimed pioneer in cataract and lens replacement surgery, has dedicated his career to delivering unsurpassed surgical outcomes. As a result of his commitment, more patients have chosen Dr. Shoemaker to restore their vision than any other surgeon his age in the United States.

A Florida native, Dr. Shoemaker received his bachelor and medical degrees from the University of Florida. He studied at the Swiss Institute for Medical and Surgical Research, and completed a residency in ophthalmology at the noted Ochsner Clinic and Alton Ochsner Medical Foundation in New Orleans.

Dr. Shoemaker established his practice in Venice, Florida in 1983. Today, Center For Sight has grown to be the premier multi-physician vision care practice in southwest Florida.

Focusing his career exclusively on cataract and lens replacement surgery, Dr. Shoemaker has earned a reputation for excellence nationwide. He shares his expertise as a teacher and speaker at national ophthalmology conferences, and is among a select group of physicians who serve as FDA investigators for new ophthalmic technologies. He also holds the US patent for the Shoemaker Intraocular Lens Forceps, an instrument he designed for use in implant surgery.

Board certified by both the American Board of Ophthalmology and the American Board of Eye Surgery, Dr. Shoemaker is a member of the American Academy of Ophthalmology, American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery, American College of Eye Surgeons, International Society of Refractive Surgery, and the Society for Excellence in Eye Care.

Dr. Shoemaker's Sarasota home is close to the water, where he unwinds with his favorite pastimes of sculling and flats fishing.
